

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

Please revise paragraph [0029] as follows;

[0029] In the configuration as described above, the navigational system N1 periodically obtains the ~~won~~ current position through the positional information generating section 104 and outputs the obtained current position along with the allocated identification information n1 as positional information D1. This positional information D1 is transmitted from the transmitting/receiving section 7 and, at the same time, supplied to the relative position determining section 101.